I. Background

The UNESCO-UNEVOC International Centre assists UNESCO Member States to achieve high quality, relevant, lifelong and cost effective technical and vocational education and training for all. It aims to maximise learner’s prospects in the labour market. It creates synergies with UNESCO Headquarters, UNESCO Institutes/Centres and Field Offices; and works in close partnership with other international and national agencies in the field of technical and vocational education and training. The Centre is the main hub of the international UNEVOC Network made up of UNEVOC Centres in UNESCO Member States.

In 2020, UNESCO-UNEVOC has relaunched its TVET Country Profiles service. This service has been converted into a dynamic tool that, on top of displaying key information on TVET systems, now features relevant TVET statistical data and allows for the dynamic creation of education system diagrams.
